B52s Blast Cong Infiltration Routes

SAIGON (AP) — American B52 bombers pounded Viet Cong infiltration routes around Saigon with 150 tons of bombs today, as the enemy shelled several cities and allied positions and ground forces engaged in sharp clashes.

The rolling thunder of the 500-pound bombs was clearly heard in the capital as the bombers made two strikes about 20 miles northwest of the city.

Twenty enemy mortar rounds hit the southern fringe of Saigon, wounding two policemen and six South Vietnamese civilians. About 60 Chinese-made 107 mm rockets struck the Bien Hoa airbase 15 miles north of Saigon, but U.S. spokesmen said they inflicted no casualties or damage.

Associated Press photographer Dang Van Phuoc reported sharp fighting in suburban Gia

Dinh, where South Vietnamese troops tried to root out guerrillas in bunkers. He said the irregulars failed to dislodge the enemy. A South Vietnamese lieutenant was killed and two American advisors were among 17 wounded.

A government spokesman said South Vietnamese paratroopers killed 30 Viet Cong and suffered three wounded in an engagement through a string of hamlets five miles northeast of Saigon.

Forty-eight North Vietnamese regulars were killed in two actions near the demilitarized zone.

mental Landing Team counted 21 bodies after repulsing an enemy charge on their night position southwest of Da Nang. Three marines were wounded.

Near the South China Sea, other U.S. Marines pinned down a band of North Vietnamese and the cruiser USS Boston was called in to shell the enemy position. A U.S. spokesman said 27 enemy soldiers were killed.

While allied troops fanned out within the enemy's seven-mile rocket range of Saigon looking for firing sites, enemy gunners zeroed in on supply points, training camps and civilian targets.

ported that 22 of the enemy's 122mm rockets hit the supply base northwest of Da Nang, inflicting light to moderate damage. Fifty artillery rounds inflicted light damage on the Cuu Viet supply point six miles below the demilitarized zone.

Infantry training centers at Quang Ngai and Chau Doc were mortared and light casualties were reported. Mortar rounds also slammed into the Quang Ngai City airport, killing one civilian and wounding 20 others.

At Can Tho guerrillas fired four mortar rounds into a rice mill, killing four civilians and wounding four others.

A Viet Cong party raided the Vinh Tho refugee camp 15 miles south of Da Nang and abducted 60 persons after setting fire to 20 tents. A U.S. spokesman said the civilians presumably would be used as a labor force.

North Vietnamese shore batteries fired on the Australian destroyer Hobart and the American destroyer Chandler when the two warships shelled a highway bridge 11 miles southeast of Dong Hoi. Neither vessel was hit.

U.S. officials said allied soldiers searching for rocket sites around Saigon have found more rockets than have been fired at the city. Since Jan. 29, they said, about 267 rockets have hit the city, and in the same period allied forces have found 304 of the six-foot rockets in enemy ammunition caches.

Peace Talks Resting On Dead Center

No Signs Shown By Either Side To Break Stalemate

PARIS (AP) — At the end of five weeks, the peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam rested on dead center today. Neither side showed any sign of making a concession that could break the stalemate.

The next meeting between Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman of the United States and Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam is scheduled for Wednesday following a week-long recess.

During the recess Harriman will consult with his advisers here and keep in touch with policy-makers in Washington.

Since last Wednesday's meeting, which produced another round of argument over how to de-escalate the war, Thuy and his delegation have been silent, but claims of military victory and eventual triumph for the North Vietnamese cause continue to be heard from Hanoi.

The latest came Friday from Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap in an interview with the Algerian newspaper El Moudjahid. Giap was quoted as saying the battles now going on in South Vietnam are comparable to the battle of Dien Bien Phu in 1954 in which his forces defeated the French.

U.S. officials believe the stream of victory claims coming out of Hanoi in recent weeks may be designed in part to boost the fighting spirit of the Communist forces in the South. They also believe the verbal barrage is aimed at convincing world opinion that the United States and its allies are losing the war and should therefore negotiate a surrender in Paris.

The surtax, linked to a $6-billion spending cut for fiscal 1969, is expected to reach a vote in the House next week.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Friday that after an April dip, production of factories, mines and refineries last month reached a record 163.7 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

This was a five per cent jump over last year.

Retail sales increased one per cent after an April dip caused by big-city riots that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The retail volume was still below the March record, but eight per cent above the previous year.

The board noted that the rate of unemployment—another major indicator of a taut economy—remained at the April level of 3.5 per cent, lowest since 1953.

The peak in industrial activity was attained largely because of greater output of consumer goods, including automobiles, and of industrial materials.

Auto assemblies rose 10 per cent from the April level and were at an annual rate of 9.4 million vehicles.

U.S. Economy Heated Again During May

Administration's Case Sustained For 10% Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy heated up again in May with a net effect of sustaining the administration's case for its anti-inflationary 10 per cent income surtax.

The surtax, linked to a $6-billion spending cut for fiscal 1969, is expected to reach a vote in the House next week.

Spock Convicted; Plans To Appeal

BOSTON (AP) — Baby doctor Benjamin Spock, Yale University Chaplain William Sloan Coffin Jr., and two others have been convicted of conspiracy to counsel young men to evade the draft. A fifth defendant was acquitted.

"My main defense," Spock said, "was that I believed a citizen must work against a war he feels is contrary to international law. The court has decided to feel differently."

After the conviction Friday night by an all-male federal jury, Spock's counsel, Leonard Boudin, and defense attorneys for the other three said there would be an appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The four men were expected to carry their appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, as part of their opposition to the Vietnam war.

Convicted with Coffin and the 65-year-old pediatrician were Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student, and Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine.

ington research director, was found innocent by the jury after seven hours and 20 minutes of deliberation. The trial began May 20 and lasted four weeks.

Raskin walked from the 12th floor courtroom in federal court-house, his head down and tears in his eyes.

"I feel very good for myself," he said in a choked voice, "and badly for the others."

Raskin's lawyer, Calvin Bartlett, maintained during the trial that Raskin was not part of any conspiracy and barely knew his co-defendants.

U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford ordered Spock and the other three freed in personal recognizance until sentencing on July 10. They face maximum sentences of five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines.

The jury, in a list of findings on specific charges made in the indictment, found that Spock and the other three conspired to counsel, aid and abet Selective Service registrants to refuse or evade duties under the Selective Service Act.

Hippie Attitude Eases Slightly

'Jane Doe' Boards Bus, Takes Mystery With Her

A bunch of East Liverpoolers proved to be an unrepentant hippie Friday night that the average American will display open-handed generosity in the face of the most chilling rebuffs from a youngster in trouble.

Jane Doe, the teen-age barefoot blonde who spent three days in jail as a suspicious person, refused all offers of help and declined to reveal her name or background, was placed on a bus here about midnight, police said, for the balance of her journey to California — thanks to money contributed by the same officials who had sought to help her.

Her story has no beginning and no end, so far as East Liverpool is concerned. In the brief chapter that unfolded here, she refused even to hint at her name or address or discuss her background. She was dirty and unkempt and shoeless when she arrived.

She left last night in new clothes and even consented to don shoes and socks after she had bathed and washed her hair. But only a little of her withdrawn, defensive attitude melted under the community's kindness.

Earlier yesterday, when officials offered to buy her shoes and stockings, she shot back: "I won't wear them!"

Six Change Minds, Favor Mail Gun Ban

One Senator Says 'Violence, Terror' Caused His Switch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six senators who opposed a ban on mail order sales of rifles and shotguns only a month ago now favor it, one saying "violence and terror" changed his mind.

The switch in position by the six became known Friday when the administration bill introduced Wednesday was printed and with it the names of 29 Senate sponsors.

The list included Sens. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., Hugh Scott, R-Pa., William Proxmire, D-Wis., Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., all of whom voted in May against an amendment to ban sale of all guns through the mail.

That amendment failed and the gun control legislation that was finally adopted—as part of the omnibus anticrime bill—governs only mail order sales of pistols and revolvers.

The new administration bill represents another attempt to bring rifles and shotguns under the same regulation. It also would prohibit over-the-counter sales of such weapons to persons under 18 or to nonresidents of the state in which the seller does business.

Magnuson's change of heart holds special significance for the new measure since he is chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, one of two Senate committees to which the bill has been referred.

Teachers' Claims Rejected

School Executives Deny 'Preferential Treatment'

A denial of "preferential treatment" and refusal to change the extra assignment salary index for high school faculty members were made today by East Liverpool school administrators in response to a stand by 33 high school teachers.

The grievance petition was revealed Friday in a statement released by the board of directors of the East Liverpool Teachers Association.

THE HIGH school teachers met with Clifford Lynch, high school principal, Thursday, discussing the teaching load and extra assignments, particularly those of Robert McNea, football coach, which they said were not comparable with others on the faculty.

Supt. Paul Blair, Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini and Lynch today, in a joint statement, said the ELTA board of directors made the grievance public without their prior knowledge, a violation of proper grievance procedures.

The administrators listed five points concerning the controversy, and said they will not make any recommendations for changes in the extra-curricular salary index to the board of education.

IT HAD been indicated that Lynch would hand down a decision on the grievance of the teachers some time next week.

However, he said since the matter had been made public, he had referred it to Blair, and the administrators had come to the decision not to make any changes or to refer the matter themselves to the board for changes.

The next step would be for the group of high school teachers or the ELTA board to take up the issue with the board.

This is the statement released by the administrators:

"In light of allegations made by the ELTA Board of Directors, as submitted to The East Liverpool Review, concerning 'preferential treatment,' the administration wishes to issue the following statement.

"WE FEEL THAT since the ELTA Board of Directors has made public a grievance without our prior knowledge of issue, ance, they are in violation of proper and ethical grievance procedures. Since the violation has occurred, the grievance as submitted to Mr. Clifford Lynch, high school principal, is as follows:

"It has become a matter of active concern to many of the faculty that the morale of the faculty of East Liverpool High School is being damaged by the following actions and inequities.

"A position has been created in which there is a teaching load of three classes, one intramural period, one prior to devote to athletic directorship and one preparation period — many teachers have five classes and one preparation period and receive less monies and less time to carry out required assignments even though they are comparably qualified in their particular subject area.

"Therefore, this is preferential treatment — all teachers should be treated equally.

GOP Governors Urging Party To 'Heed Advice'

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Republican governors have adopted a resolution urging their party to heed their advice on campaign issues—and today, they are trying to agree on what that advice should be.

While they sought agreement on items they would like included in the GOP platform, the governors were not making any suggestions on a candidate to run on it.

The platform—not the candidates—was the announced business of the Republican Governors Association conference which brought 20 of the 26 GOP state leaders to Tulsa.

They met on platform questions Friday but did not reach agreement on any specific positions. They adopted a resolution urging the platform committee "to draw heavily upon the material developed" by the governors.

The material is a 5½-inch-thick stack of working papers, including a series of suggested solutions to domestic problems which stir disagreement.

Among these suggestions was a series of new civil rights measures dealing with open housing, racial balance in the schools and fair employment. In addition, the document compiled by the governors' association suggests an income maintenance program for Americans unable to work, and guaranteed employment, by the government if necessary, for those who can.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said the suggestions were not endorsed by the governors, only accepted as a starting point.

The document grew out of staff studies and a series of platform hearings held by the GOP governors.

Driver Hurt As Car Hits Wall, Spins

A 23-year-old Chester area man, hurled from his small auto when it rammied a wall on the River Rd. early this morning, was unconscious and in "serious" condition at a Pittsburgh hospital today.

James R. Kirby of Chester RD 1 suffered a head injury in the 12:44 a.m. mishap near the Y.E.L.P. trucking firm offices.

City police said he was headed west when his 1964 compact struck the wall and spun around, tossing him out.

The car then headed back east, driverless, traveling some 85 yards before smashing into another wall.

Police said the driver was unable to talk when he was taken to City Hospital. He was later transferred to Presbyterian-University Hospital, Pittsburgh.

Officials there said he had not regained consciousness since his arrival.

The auto was demolished, witnesses said.

Program Set At New Elkton Post Office

Open house will be held next Friday, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the new post office in Elkton.

Mrs. Raymond Baker, postmaster, said James Gaughan of the real estate division of postal headquarters at Cincinnati and Rep. Wayne L. Hays will participate in the program.

Others invited to attend include Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman; John Wargo, county recorder; Carl L. Stacey, clerk of courts; and Vincent Judge, county treasurer.

The new building, log cabin in style, is patterned after the first post office in Elkton, which opened in the 1870's. It was completed last week by Fluhardt Contractors of Alliance.

The move from the old post office will be completed on Wednesday.

Mrs. Baker, the present postmaster, is a great-great-granddaughter of the first postmaster at Elkton.

Administration's Case Sustained For 10% Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy heated up again in May with a net effect of sustaining the administration's case for its anti-inflationary 10 per cent income surtax.

The surtax, linked to a $6-billion spending cut for fiscal 1969, is expected to reach a vote in the House next week.

While they sought agreement on items they would like included in the GOP platform, the governors were not making any suggestions on a candidate to run on it.

The platform—not the candidates—was the announced business of the Republican Governors' Association conference which brought 20 of the 26 GOP state leaders to Tulsa.

They met on platform questions Friday but did not reach agreement on any specific positions. They adopted a resolution urging the platform committee of the GOP national convention "to draw heavily upon the material developed" by the governors.

The material is a 5½-inch-thick stack of working papers, including a series of suggested solutions to domestic problems which stir disagreement.

Among these suggestions was a series of new civil rights measures dealing with open housing, racial balance in the schools and fair employment. In addition, the document compiled by the governors' association suggests an income maintenance program for Americans unable to work, and guaranteed employment, by the government if necessary, for those who can.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said the suggestions were not endorsed by the governors, only accepted as a starting point.

The document grew out of staff studies and a series of platform hearings held by the GOP governors.

Girl Hurt As Car Drifts; Rig Crash Injures Driver

A 4-year-old Lisbon girl in a runaway car was one of five injured in three area traffic mishaps today and Friday.

Linda Fatherly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fatherly of Pleasant Heights, Lisbon RD 5, was treated at Salem Clinic for multiple abrasions after the car in which she was sitting while waiting for her mother drifted down through the Fatherlys yard onto Pritchard Ave. and over a 50-foot embankment.

Mrs. Fatherly told officers she had put Linda and another daughter, Brenda, 5, in the car preparatory to taking Linda to a doctor in Lisbon when she returned to the house to answer the phone about 1:15 p. m. Friday.

She looked out and saw the car rolling away down the hill. Both girls were in the front seat. Brenda jumped out. When the car stopped, Linda was on the floor in the back.

Mrs. Fatherly, who is expecting another child, fell while running to the car and rolled down the hillside. The Lisbon firemen's ambulance took Mrs. Fatherly and Linda to the hospital for treatment.

The father is a street department employee for the village. Officers said they were unable to determine how the car was released.

An Erie (Pa.) man was injured early this morning when his tractor-trailer crashed on Route 7 and spilled 37,000 pounds of sheet metal.

In "fair" condition at City Hospital is George Lee Sturdivant, 36, with lacerations of the scalp and possible chest injuries.

Officers said the accident took place near the Route 30 intersection at 12:30 a. m. when the rig went out of control on a curve, went off the east side of the roadway and struck a tree. Sturdivant was cited by the patrol for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

A WARREN woman and a Maury man were injured as the result of a three-vehicle mishap Friday on Route 7 about 2½ miles north of Route 30.

Treated at City Hospital were Mrs. Frances Palovich, 49, who complained of injuries to the back and neck, and Charles Parkinson, 51, abrasions and contusions of the scalp. He was released to the care of his family doctor.

The mishap occurred at 6:30 p. m. when the southbound 1966 sedan, driven by Parkinson, rammed the southbound Palovich car in the rear. The impact forced the Palovich car off the east side of the road, where it crashed into a parked 1965 pickup truck owned by Bruce Webber of Lisbon RD 3.

The truck then was shoved into a fence and tree. All vehicles were damaged heavily, officers said.

Most Michigan Democratic Delegates Favor Humphrey

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Most Michigan Democratic delegates who say they have made up their minds favor Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as the party's presidential nominee, an Associated Press poll reveals.

But delegates are undecided as to what—if any—role Sen. Edward M. Kennedy should lay at the August national convention in Chicago. Several delegates expressed hope that Kennedy would be the vice presidential nominee.

A total of 39 Michigan delegates said they would vote for Humphrey. Three said they supported Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

However, 36 delegates said they were undecided as to which candidate they would support. Some added that it was possible a man not currently viewed as a candidate could capture the nomination.

More than three-fourths of Michigan's 102-member delegation was contacted during the poll. The remainder could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy has not announced any plans since his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was assassinated last week in Los Angeles.

Alex Ott of Flint said he had received a tremendous response from persons in his area wanting Kennedy to be named to the second spot on the Democratic ticket. Nearly all delegates who said they supported Robert F. Kennedy for the nomination are now uncommitted.

Most Michigan Democratic Delegates Favor Humphrey

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Most Michigan Democratic delegates who say they have made up their minds favor Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as the party's presidential nominee, an Associated Press poll reveals.

But delegates are undecided as to what—if any—role Sen. Edward M. Kennedy should lay at the August national convention in Chicago. Several delegates expressed hope that Kennedy would be the vice presidential nominee.

A total of 39 Michigan delegates said they would vote for Humphrey. Three said they supported Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

However, 36 delegates said they were undecided as to which candidate they would support. Some added that it was possible a man not currently viewed as a candidate could capture the nomination.

More than three-fourths of Michigan's 102-member delegation was contacted during the poll. The remainder could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy has not announced any plans since his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was assassinated last week in Los Angeles.

Alex Ott of Flint said he had received a tremendous response from persons in his area wanting Kennedy to be named to the second spot on the Democratic ticket.

Nearly all delegates who said they supported Robert F. Kennedy for the nomination are now uncommitted.

JUNE AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, June, with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro-organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the spring season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY???

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and spring showers add to the problem of increasing the amount of water entering the system.

HOW SEA-CAL ENZYMES HELP

The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000,000 anaerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce), and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

mentioned statements are contributing factors to the apathy and the slow corruption of complacency in our school system. For this reason, we are affixing our signatures to this grievance report."

"In reference to the above grievance, there are several false assumptions and gross generalizations that must be pointed out.

"1. THE POSITIONS referred to have not been created, they have existed for many years before Coach McNea came to East Liverpool.

"2. The grievance apparently is directed to the fact that one individual has too many paid extra - curricular assignments. The positions of athletic director, which has administrative authority to direct all interscholastic sports, the boys' intramural program, and football coach have been assigned to Mr. McNea because he is the most qualified person within the system to effectively carry out these assignments as governed by adopted Board of Education policy.

"3. There is further complaint that the boys' intramural director received released time for the time spent with this activity. This is in line with other activities on the extra assignment index salary schedule such as Keramos Echo, Keramos Yearbook, athletic director and audio-visual director. All of these assignments have released time as well as additional compensation.

"4. THE ACTIVITIES on the extra - curricular index salary schedule were originally created to maintain the school program that requires special training and experience and are of a voluntary nature. No person has been assigned to these activities without consent.

"5. "Preferential Treatment" implies that one individual is favored over other staff members. We are continually evaluating staff and we can see no evidence but that Mr. McNea is by training, experience, and performance of his duties to be the best qualified for duties assigned to him.

"6. The administration has recommended to the Board of Education the extra-assignment schedule and staff assignments for the positions. These have been adopted by the Board of Education. The index schedule has been recently re-studied and there will be no recommendation to the Board of Education for a change."

Council Vote Due On Fair Housing

Council is scheduled to vote Monday night on a proposed ordinance which would outlaw discrimination in rental or sale of housing or commercial property in East Liverpool.

The so - called fair housing legislation also would ban discrimination on the part of individuals, real estate agents or brokers and financial institutions which provide mortgage money for real estate purchases.

I would ban new restricted covenants in property deeds—any clause limiting transfer, rental, lease or other use of housing "because of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry."

COUNCIL action on the measure was requested several months ago by the East Liverpool branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The proposed ordinance covers 4½ typewritten pages of legal size paper.

Council also is scheduled to consider legislation that would: Authorize the administration to call for contractors' bids on a $100,000 project for improvement of lower St. Clair Ave., the River Rd. and Broadway south of E. 3rd St. and Washington St. between E. 3rd St. and E. 4th St.

Clear the way for appointment of a policeman to the state - subsidized post of city juvenile officer by furnishing the city's share of the salary, defining the duties of the post and providing that the appointee will be named by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vorey.

Rezone a West End tract to permit erection of a "high rise" apartment building for housing for the elderly by the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Amend the zoning ordinance to provide for changes in regulations on advertising signs recommended by the City Planning Commission.

BOOST THE salaries of the three members of the Civil Service Commission from $100 to $150 annually, confirming a prior decision.

The fair housing legislation provides that a six-member board will be appointed to list ten to complaints and determine if a violation has occurred.

The ordinance provides a minimum penalty of $100 for a first violation, but the fine may range as high as $250. For each subsequent offense, the fine would range from $250 to $500, the legislation provides.

In substance, the ordinance says that all persons must be treated equally in the sale, lease or rental of commercial property or housing units and that there shall be no discrimination because of "race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin."

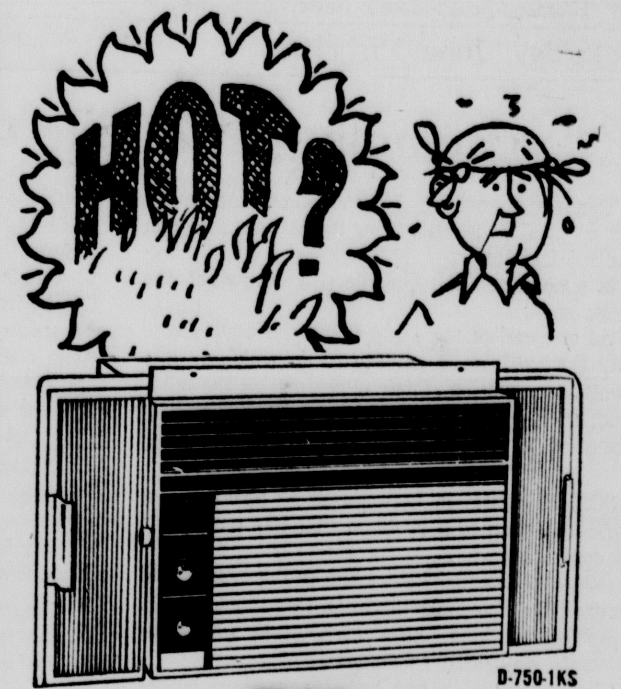

The legislation would ban real estate advertisements for sale or rental of property "which indicate any preference, limitation, specification or discrimination."

The trend is clear!

More than 3 million American homes are heated electrically. The Federal Power Commission forecasts 19 million families will convert to or build electrically heated homes within just 12 years! Why?

Ben Franklin's stoves sold like hotcakes because they were more efficient than an open fire. The pot bellied stove was replaced by central heating systems. Today's big home-heating trend is another vast improvement . . . flameless electric . . . because it offers such a wide choice of systems and so many more advantages that it makes other methods of heating seem clumsy and old-fashioned. Council Vote Due On Fair Housing

Council is scheduled to vote Monday night on a proposed ordinance which would outlaw discrimination in rental or sale of housing or commercial property in East Liverpool.

The so-called fair housing legislation also would ban discrimination on the part of individuals, real estate agents or brokers and financial institutions which provide mortgage money for real estate purchases.

I would ban new restricted covenants in property deeds—any clause limiting transfer, rental, lease or other use of housing "because of race, color, religion, national origin or ancestry."

COUNCIL action on the measure was requested several months ago by the East Liverpool branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The proposed ordinance covers 4½ typewritten pages of legal size paper.

Council also is scheduled to consider legislation that would: Authorize the administration to call for contractors' bids on a $100,000 project for improvement of lower St. Clair Ave., the River Rd. and Broadway south of E. 3rd St. and Washington St. between E. 3rd St. and E. 4th St.

Clear the way for appointment of a policeman to the state - subsidized post of city juvenile officer by furnishing the city's share of the salary, defining the duties of the post and providing that the appointee will be named by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vordy.

Rezoning a West End tract to permit erection of a "high rise" apartment building for housing for the elderly by the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Amend the zoning ordinance to provide for changes in regulations on advertising signs recommended by the City Planning Commission.

BOOST THE salaries of the three members of the Civil Service Commission from $100 to $150 annually, confirming a prior decision.

The fair housing legislation provides that a six-member board will be appointed to listen to complaints and determine if a violation has occurred.

The ordinance provides a minimum penalty of $100 for a first violation, but the fine may range as high as $250. For each subsequent offense, the fine would range from $250 to $500, the legislation provides.

In substance, the ordinance says that all persons must be treated equally in the sale, lease or rental of commercial property or housing units and that there shall be no discrimination because of "race, color, religion, ancestry or national origin."

The legislation would ban real estate advertisements for sale or rental of property "which indicate any preference, limitation, specification or discrimination."

The trend is clear!

More than 3 million American homes are heated electrically. The Federal Power Commission forecasts 19 million families will convert to or build electrically heated homes within just 12 years! Why?

Ben Franklin's stoves sold like hotcakes because they were more efficient than an open fire. The pot bellied stove was replaced by central heating systems. Today's big home-heating trend is another vast improvement... flameless electric... because it offers such a wide choice of systems and so many more advantages that it makes other methods of heating seem clumsy and old-fashioned. More convenient, more comfortable, more versatile, electric heat gives you more for your money. And you can enjoy it now, in your present house. Any home can be converted to clean electric heat, easily and economically. Let us prove it. Call us... or mail this coupon.

Stemming The Tide Of Violence

There is a growing demand across the nation for a "middle position" on the question of gun control legislation.

Is such a position feasible and desirable? We think so.

At one end of the issue there are people who say they will have nothing to do with any gun control legislation. Their opposites, at the other end, seek controls right up to the brink of confiscation.

SOMEWHERE in between there has to be a sane approach to a problem that has gotten out of control.

There is much evidence the problem is out of control, but the most incriminating piece comes from the National Rifle Association which represents American sportsmen.

The organization has been accused of blocking effective legislation controlling firearms for years. Yet, today it is actively supporting specific gun control measures.

To clear the way for relevant legislation, these misconceptions have to be discarded: The thought that gun control will greatly reduce crime (guns can be stolen, purchased on the black market or made by criminals); the idea that assassins will be stymied (a man filled with hate, dedicated to murder and resigned to accept the consequences eventually will find a way to complete his heinous deed); that gun control is infringing upon individual rights (no proposed legislation would prohibit sane, law-abiding citizens from owning guns) and the theory that gun legislation should be opposed because only law-abiding people would allow it (how would such thinking apply to other laws?).

After the political arena is purged of false ideas and catchy phrases, then work can begin on sensible legislation aimed at keeping guns out of the hands of undesirables and toughening penalties for crimes involving firearms.

WE BELIEVE more and more people are arriving at the conclusion that the time has come for a law that would contribute positively to the climate that looks with disfavor on firearm violence.

Under present conditions, Americans appear to be resignedly accepting an atmosphere that embraces violent tactics as part of the American scene.

There is no denying the existence of violence in our nation, but that is no excuse to condone it.

National reassessment is going on right now. No one has a perfect solution for every falling that confronts America. Some changes are going to be made. All citizens are going to benefit—either in the short run or long run.

Reasonable gun control legislation is one area to be touched by reform. Will it be a consummate answer to the plague of violence? No. A step in the right direction? Yes.

The Wayfarer

Not a few prayers and hopes for safe keeping follow "Jane Doe," the tight-lipped teenager who has trundled off to St. Louis after a three-day stay at City Hall.

The nameless, homeless hippie — with her long tresses, bare feet and assorted trinkets a la Haight-Asbury — refused to divulge her identity to authorities, correctly claiming, "I have as much right to be in this town as anyone else."

On she goes now, to the land of her uncertain dreams, the City of Angels, confident in unconformity, yet in the costume of the clan. Blessings on you, "Jane," may the bird of paradise gild your toenails, may you find soon a meaningful purpose in human existence, but if not, may you ever have warm Pacific beaches and flowers in your hair.

You have our deepest admiration — not for your tacky way of life, your uncharted path to the future, but for your ability — in this age of explanation, excuse, appeal, and talk, talk, talk — to remain silent.

A Victory For The U.S.

The long-awaited treaty ambitiously aimed at halting the spread of nuclear weapons has been doomed to a heavy shelling from its cities since the time it became a discussion topic a decade ago.

The very nature of the U.N. nuclear nonproliferation agreement, mutual mistrust among nations, mutual fear among nations and the fact the treaty is far from perfect all provide ample ammunition for opponents.

THE LIMITATIONS of the pact and the refusal of some nations to abide by it reduce its effectiveness.

Nevertheless, a portion of the treaty's value lies outside the bounds of its provisions.

Intangible benefits include the co-sponsorship of the treaty by the United States and Russia, its potential as a stepping stone to future disarmament agreements and its overall contribution to an atmosphere where nations submit to some form of reason in the search for peace.

Anytime America and the Soviet Union can agree on anything there is cause to hope world tides can change — not drastically or dramatically but perceptibly.

Cries of "sham" and "ruse" are to be expected. Deviousness is well documented in world history. So is bitterness, threats and war.

Contrary to the cry of critics, the United States has won an important battle in international politics by committing the Soviet Union and most other U. N. nations to a program promoting peace.

IT IS A WELCOME deviation from sabre-rattling. Those who think the treaty means nothing are overlooking its effort at positivism in a world that frequently teeters precariously on the brink of disaster.

The United States has a sizable diplomatic corps digging hard to bring about changes in a world that defies change and trying to provide moral leadership in a crisis-conscious world.

Even small victories are significant because they are a source of hope.

Critics of the treaty would be wise to consider the alternative. If they continue to let their perspective be shortened by utopian dreams of perfection, they are fated to a life of frustration, fear and hopelessness.

By Boat To Shangri-La

One of the daring adventurers of our time has a new exploration in mind.

Sir Edmund Hillary, the New Zealander who conquered Mount Everest, would like to do a bit of river exploring—in the same Himalayan area.

His idea is to see if it is feasible to use a type of jet boat on the Sun Kosi River between Katmandu, the capital of Nepal, and the Indian border. If it is, then he sees the country being opened up economically.

As of now, the remote country is virtually isolated and a trip into the capital on foot takes up to 10 days.

Preliminary surveys indicated there may be as many as 100 rapids in the 250-mile stretch of river but the indomitable explorer feels his special jet boats have a good chance of going all the way.

The world continues to shrink as the Shangri-Las disappear one by one.

And just when more and more of us, sickened by the crime, violence and tragedy of our violent world, would like to find a Shangri-La of our own—full of peace and happiness and love.

The Supreme Court has given police departments across the nation a valuable weapon in the eternal struggle against crime.

WE BELIEVE that the trained eye of a police officer can detect suspicious behavior. We believe it is his duty to check out the matter in the interest of public safety and protection.

The court decision also specifically stated that the ruling does not support a policeman's stop-and-frisk action based on "unparticularized suspicion or hunch." The search also is limited to outer clothing.

We feel the court has made it clear it is not condoning invasion of the constitutional rights of citizens, but is seeking to permit a police officer to do his job in a "reasonable" manner.

Martin Luther King's Union

BAL HARBOUR, — Through the veins — and voices — of this union runs the lifeblood of a thousand communities.

And always, amid the oratorical challenges hurled by its youthful leaders in the big convention hall here, one seems to hear the crack of the killer's bullet which cut down the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. There are calls to make his Jan. 15 birthday a national holiday along with those of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

There is the talk of spending $2 million annually for unique deficit funding of organizing drives to put a union label on all state and local governments in the U.S. — organize not just one million, not just two million, but soon to speak for literally 10 million public employees.

For this is the gathering of the blue and white collar national and regional leaders of the newest work inside labor "AFSCME" — the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

They do not cheer their "young," 49-year-old president, Jerry Wurf, when he mentions Lyndon Johnson or Hubert Humphrey in passing.

They cheer him when he demands the right to strike every municipal and state service except the police and firefighters.

THESE 1,500 delegates cheering today at the AFSCME's 17th convention will be the force behind many of tomorrow's national headlines, but these neat, low-key delegates are deceptive in appearance. They are the representatives of police, state troopers, grain weighers, port authority and highway workers, campus employees, garbage collectors, zoo keepers, museum guards — the lifeblood of the block you live on.

They are conscious now that they have black power with them — and church power, labor power, and what they call PEOPLE's power.

Jerry Wurf is most conscious of this. It's in his every phrase when he says his 400,000 followers, growing by 1,000 a week, growing three times faster than any other union, at first will argue, bargain, but if necessary, strike the city and state halls and executive mansions.

Here they use "Memphis" as a slogan. They sound quiet. But this is a tough union — ready to paralyze any community from upper Michigan to Mobile.

"If we do (organize), we shall be powerful and effective", Jerry Wurf tells them. "We shall be bigger than the Teamsters, bigger than the Auto Workers, or the Steelworkers or the Machinists. If we meet our challenge, AFSCME can be the Number One Union in all America."

They know he means it. They know that the field is explosive like some supernova on earth, what with 6 out of every 10 new jobs in this country now developing in "the public sector." And they cheer.

"The old days of wheedling and begging, of pleading with civil service executives or mayors, or governors, or councils are on the way out," Wurf says. "Done! Obsolete!"

THEY CHEER — and a world waiting for news of upward hurricanes and political storms doesn't seem to hear this voice of the future.

Somehow the challenge to the organizing power of the competitive Hoffa-Fitzsimmons Teamsters, or Reuther's auto workers, or the Abe Abel's steelworkers is drowned out.

The public is unaware that this union now speaks for one million civil service workers and is wooing another half million.

The public takes notice only when the garbage piles up. But it overlooks the steady accumulation of contracts such as the Woodbridge, N.J., pact which put the sanitation men there on a four-day, 32-hour week without loss of pay.

The public overlooks AFSCME's Bible-quoting organizers now heading south from their Washington central office — heading for the big cities to give them the "Memphis" treatment.

THE PUBLIC HAS NOT even heard of the union's new 24-man PEOPLE drive — standing for Public Employees Organized to Promote Legislative Equality. This is another COPE — the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

Few realize that Wurf and such colleagues as New York City's Victor Gotbaum, who bargains collectively for 125,000 civil service workers, soon will have powerful political machines in their own communities.

But there are those inside labor who don't overlook the potential of 10 million public workers (the 1970 total in just 30 months). The Hoffa-Fitzsimmons Teamsters are drawing a bead on this union. They know potential power when they see it, and they want a piece of it.

And it is there — in AFSCME's youth, in its acceptance by the black community workers, in the drama of the unsolved murder of Rev. King.

This union is on the march — through a thousand communities. In a decade it will change the nature and perhaps even the leadership of American labor.

Odd Facts

The first American battleship of importance was the U.S.S. Maine, launched in 1890. A "mysterious" explosion in Havana Harbor, Cuba, destroyed her on Feb. 15, 1898.

During the early days of baseball's history, one of the rules provided that "Fans will not be permitted to jump on an outfielder's back while he is in the process of making a catch!"

DAVID LAWRENCE

Aid To Police

The chance of another assassination at a public gathering has been considerably reduced by the right of the police, now affirmed by the Supreme Court of the United States, to "stop and frisk" individuals when a "reasonably prudent" man in the circumstances would be warranted in the belief that his safety or that of others was in danger.

Thus, an officer does not have to have "probable cause to arrest the individual for a crime" in order to make such an on-the-spot check to determine whether a person is carrying a gun or other lethal weapon which could be used to destroy life.

THE MAJORITY opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, says that "each case will, of course, have to be decided on its own facts." Constitutional technicalities have nevertheless been brushed aside to the extent that police officers can investigate "unusual conduct" in a crowd, for instance, as a means of protecting human life against impulsive or planned action on the part of an individual.

There is a suggestion in the opinion of Justice William O. Douglas — the lone dissenter — that the court was responding to "powerful hydraulic pressures... to water down constitutional guarantees and give the police the upper hand."

The fact is, however, that the tragedy that befell Robert F. Kennedy in a hotel in Los Angeles last week might have been averted had there been a closer watch on the persons in the crowd and a more explicit authorization to "stop and frisk" any individual acting suspiciously around him.

All this is seen by many people as a lot of trouble and an invasion of privacy that will be abused by the police. But the end result can be the saving of life. In view of recent events, public opinion is certainly anxious that there shall be an even more extensive application of the "stop and frisk" powers of the police.

It is surprising, on the other hand, how many people oppose legislation regulating the sale of firearms. No one is objecting to the acquisition of guns for sporting purposes, such as hunting or target-shooting, or for protection in one's home or in a business establishment in dangerous neighborhoods.

The latter involve self-defense. But there is no reason why licenses cannot be required before guns of any kind can be bought, and authorities could sanction such purchases only after determining that a rational and law-abiding individual wanted to possess the gun. A person released from prison or from a mental institution would hardly be allowed to purchase a gun.

These are matters of administration that can well be taken care of by local authorities without disturbing the availability of guns to those who want them for sporting purposes or to defend their person or property.

States have long been imposing restrictions on license of various kinds for the protection of the public. Thus, when an automobile is licensed, it may be required that there be evidence of responsibility on the part of the owner for damage that might be caused by the vehicle. Similarly, qualifications of mental and physical capacity must be met before issuance of a license to operate a car.

IN SPITE OF THIS argument, Congress is reluctant to pass adequate legislation, though it is showing signs of moving in that direction. The pressure from those who have a lawful reason for using guns is so great that members have lost sight of the ease with which the interest of society can be protected along with the private interest of the individual.

A few weeks ago it didn't seem likely that gun control would be an issue which would come into the campaign. Now it looks as if the subject has become involved in the public mind with other factors contributing to crime and violence.

The American people want a Congress that has courage enough to pass a proper law for the legitimate ownership of guns by responsible persons and the prevention of mentally incompetent, irrational and otherwise disturbed persons from being able to obtain a gun at will, either at a local store or by sending a few dollars to a mail-order house without any questions being asked.

The lack of control over lethal weapons has long been a shortcoming in the American system of law-enforcement.

Martin Luther King's Union

BAL HARBOUR, — Through the veins — and voices — of this union runs the lifeblood of a thousand communities.

And always, amid the oratorical challenges hurled by its youngish leaders in the big convention hall here, one seems to hear the crack of the killer's bullet which cut down the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. There are calls to make his Jan. 15 birthday a national holiday along with those of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

There is the talk of spending $2 million annually for unique deficit funding of organizing drives to put a union label on all state and local governments in the U.S. — organize not just one million, not just two million, but soon to speak for literally 10 million public employees.

For this is the gathering of the blue and white collar national and regional leaders of the newest word inside labor "AFSCME" — the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

They do not cheer their "young," 49-year-old president, Jerry Wurf, when he mentions Lyndon Johnson or Hubert Humphrey in passing.

They cheer him when he demands the right to strike every municipal and state service except the police and firefighters.

THESE 1,500 delegates cheering today at the AFSCME's 17th convention will be the force behind many of tomorrow's national headlines, but these neat, low-key delegates are deceptive in appearance. They are the representatives of police, state troopers, grain weighers, port authority and highway workers, campus employees, garbage collectors, zoo keepers, museum guards — the lifeblood of the block you live on.

They are conscious now that they have black power with them — and church power, labor power, and what they call PEOPLE's power.

Jerry Wurf is most conscious of this. It's in his every phrase when he says his 400,000 followers, growing by 1,000 a week, growing three times faster than any other union, at first will argue, bargain, but if necessary, strike the city and state halls and executive mansions.

Here they use "Memphis" as a slogan. They sound quiet. But this is a tough union — ready to paralyze any community from upper Michigan to Mobile.

"If we do (organize), we shall be powerful and effective", Jerry Wurf tells them. "We shall be bigger than the Teamsters, bigger than the Auto Workers, or the Steelworkers or the Machinists. If we meet our challenge, AFSCME can be the Number One Union in all America."

They know he means it. They know that the field is explosive like some supernova on earth, what with 6 out of every 10 new jobs in this country now developing in "the public sector." And they cheer.

"The old days of wheedling and begging, of pleading with civil service executives or mayors, or governors, or councils are on the way out," Wurf says. "Done! Obsolete!"

THEY CHEER — and a world waiting for news of wayward hurricanes and political storms doesn't seem to hear this voice of the futures.

Somehow the challenge to the organizing power of the competitive Hoffa-Fitzsimmons Teamsters, or Reuther's auto workers, or the Abe Abel's steelworkers is drowned out.

The public is unaware that this union now speaks for one million civil service workers and is wooing another half million.

The public takes notice only when the garbage piles up. But it overlooks the steady accumulation of contracts such as the Woodbridge, N.J., pact which put the sanitation men there on a four-day, 32-hour week without loss of pay.

The public overlooks AFSCME's Bible-quoting organizers now heading south from their Washington central office — heading for the big cities to give them the "Memphis" treatment.

THE PUBLIC HAS NOT even heard of the union's new 24-man PEOPLE drive — standing for Public Employees Organized to Promote Legislative Equality. This is another COPE — the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education.

Few realize that Wurf and such colleagues as New York City's Victor Gotbaum, who bargains collectively for 125,000 civil service workers, soon will have powerful political machines in their own communities.

But there are those inside labor who don't overlook the potential of 10 million public workers (the 1970 total in just 30 months). The Hoffa-Fitzsimmons Teamsters are drawing a bead on this union. They know potential power when they see it, and they want a piece of it.

And it is there — in AFSCME's youth, in its acceptance by the black community workers, in the drama of the unsolved murder of Rev. King.

This union is on the march — through a thousand communities. In a decade it will change the nature and perhaps even the leadership of American labor.

Odd Facts

The first American battleship of importance was the U.S.S. Maine, launched in 1890. A "mysterious" explosion in Havana Harbor, Cuba, destroyed her on Feb. 15, 1898.

During the early days of baseball's history, one of the rules provided that "Fans will not be permitted to jump on an outfielder's back while he is in the process of making a catch!"

DAVID LAWRENCE

Aid To Police

The chance of another assassination at a public gathering has been considerably reduced by the right of the police, now affirmed by the Supreme Court of the United States, to "stop and frisk" individuals when a "reasonably prudent" man in the circumstances would be warranted in the belief that his safety or that of others was in danger.

Thus, an officer does not have to have "probable cause to arrest the individual for a crime" in order to make such an on-the-spot check to determine whether a person is carrying a gun or other lethal weapon which could be used to destroy life.

THE MAJORITY opinion of the court, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, says that "each case will, of course, have to be decided on its own facts." Constitutional technicalities have nevertheless been brushed aside to the extent that police officers can investigate "unusual conduct" in a crowd, for instance, as a means of protecting human life against impulsive or planned action on the part of an individual.

There is a suggestion in the opinion of Justice William O. Douglas — the lone dissenter — that the court was responding to "powerful hydraulic pressures... to water down constitutional guarantees and give the police the upper hand."

The fact is, however, that the tragedy that befell Robert F. Kennedy in a hotel in Los Angeles last week might have been averted had there been a closer watch on the persons in the crowd and a more explicit authorization to "stop and frisk" any individual acting suspiciously around him.

All this is seen by many people as a lot of trouble and an invasion of privacy that will be abused by the police. But the end result can be the saving of life. In view of recent events, public opinion is certainly anxious that there shall be an even more extensive application of the "stop and frisk" powers of the police.

It is surprising, on the other hand, how many people oppose legislation regulating the sale of firearms. No one is objecting to the acquisition of guns for sporting purposes, such as hunting or target-shooting, or for protection in one's home or in a business establishment in dangerous neighborhoods.

The latter involve self-defense. But there is no reason why licenses cannot be required before guns of any kind can be bought, and authorities could sanction such purchases only after determining that a rational and law-abiding individual wanted to possess the gun. A person released from prison or from a mental institution would hardly be allowed to purchase a gun.

These are matters of administration that can well be taken care of by local authorities without disturbing the availability of guns to those who want them for sporting purposes or to defend their person or property.

States have long been imposing restrictions on license of various kinds for the protection of the public. Thus, when an automobile is licensed, it may be required that there be evidence of responsibility on the part of the owner for damage that might be caused by the vehicle. Similarly, qualifications of mental and physical capacity must be met before issuance of a license to operate a car.

IN SPITE OF THIS argument, Congress is reluctant to pass adequate legislation, though it is showing signs of moving in that direction. The pressure from those who have a lawful reason for using guns is so great that members have lost sight of the ease with which the interest of society can be protected along with the private interest of the individual.

A few weeks ago it didn't seem likely that gun control would be an issue which would come into the campaign. Now it looks as if the subject has become involved in the public mind with other factors contributing to crime and violence.

The American people want a Congress that has courage enough to pass a proper law for the legitimate ownership of guns by responsible persons and the prevention of mentally incompetent, irrational and otherwise disturbed persons from being able to obtain a gun at will, either at a local store or by sending a few dollars to a mail-order house without any questions being asked.

The lack of control over lethal weapons has long been a shortcoming in the American system of law-enforcement.

Progress Reports Given

Ideas For Improvements Aired At City Hall Session

New ideas to make East Liverpool a more convenient and attractive community for residents and visitors alike were discussed Friday afternoon during a semi-monthly meeting of city department heads with Planning Coordinator Don Eckert.

The suggestions ranged from new traffic control signs to a report a citywide housing inspection will begin July 8 and continue on a regular basis for several years until the entire community has been covered. In addition, progress reports were given on projects previously undertaken.

THE MEETING at Eckert's City Hall office brought together Health Commissioner Jack Bonner, Sanitarian Ben Weber, Incinerator Supt. John Melvin, Police Chief A. J. Radeschi, Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne and Chester M. Brown, housing and zoning inspector.

Eckert read off a list of signs on business places in the downtown area which need maintenance or repair. He also noted a large number of signs is in place over premises that have been vacated. The condition of the signs will be called to the attention of the property owners or store proprietors through the zoning and building inspection department, he said.

The officials also discussed the need for stiffer penalties on parking tickets issued for vehicles found in restricted areas where they constitute a genuine hazard to public safety, such as the fire lanes at City Hospital, at school and theater entrances and in front of fire hydrants.

Eckert said a penalty as high as $15 has been recommended for violations, as the $1 charge now does not deter future violations. The police chief pointed out officers need authority to towaway vehicles "when a real emergency exists."

Melvin reported the incinerator department is finishing the job of repainting the metal trash containers used in the business district. Paint was furnished by merchants. The cans will be repainted in blue and white tops.

THE OFFICIALS also discussed interference with traffic flow caused by large trucks parking in business district alleys to make deliveries. Radeschi said the city also needs signs warning motorists not to block intersections, a bottleneck that develops when traffic is heavy.

An offensive odor noted in East Liverpool for several weeks has been traced to a river shipping terminal on the River Rd. and the firm is taking steps to eliminate it, Bonner reported. He said an investigation this week pinpointed the odor around a firm which transports oil from barges. A more other corrective steps, the firm has lowered the temperature at which the oil is kept while being moved from barges, he said.

VanDyne advised that he expects to obtain a "tear-down or repair" order against the former American Poolroom building on E. 6th St., adjacent to the American Theater. He said the front wall "bulges out" eight inches and it could fall into the street. He said he will advise Solicitor J. Michael Kapp of his action.

Eckert and Brown said housing inspections will begin on a regular basis July 8, probably in the Pleasant Heights area. Homes and other places will be checked by a three-man team to determine that they comply with the city's housing and building code.

Detailed information on plans for the inspection will be issued a few days before the program is launched, Brown said.

The department heads' next meeting with Eckert will be Friday afternoon, June 28.

Respect For Justice Urged By Speaker At Kiwanis Club

Justice, law and tyranny were discussed by Atty. Nils Johnson of Canfield at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Former appellate judge and candidate for the 7th District Court of Appeals, Johnson spoke of the present structure of American law and the disorders which have taken place on the nation's streets and campuses in recent years.

"We hear a great deal of the right to dissent, and surely this right is as important as the right to agree. We speak of the right to freedom of speech, but we should not forget there is a corresponding duty not to abuse that right."

He said campuses are frequently disrupted by students who assemble to redress their grievances. "But what grievance is so important as to totally disrupt the educational process? How can students, in attendance by their own free choice, financed by their parents and the community, ignore the rules which they agreed to follow on admission?" He said law on the campus must be upheld as firmly as any other law of the land.

He condemned "mob rule" and violence, and said the problems of the unfortunate and downtrodden were not created in a week, and they cannot be solved in a day.

He said problems will not be solved by blaming others for their existence, or make certain segments of society scapegoats. "They will be solved by doers, not by those who talk a good game but who play a good game."

Eaton Predicts Economic Boom After Viet War

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland's multimillionaire industrialist and world traveler, says the United States will be in demand in the burst of economic activity which he predicts will follow the Vietnam war.

"It will be wonderful for us because all over the world people are waiting to expand in all areas," Eaton said in an interview Friday. "We are the leading nation. We are going to be in demand. We'll find opportunities in every section of the world. This can't be based on military operations like the one in Vietnam."

Eaton, 84, was back in his office after several weeks of travel abroad in which he visited West Germany, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Poland, the Soviet Union, France and Great Britain, meeting with many of the nations leaders.

Describing the United States as a "country much subjected to mass psychology," Eaton said that "peace of the world depends on the journalists in the next month."

"It is a question of public opinion and the question of whether public opinion will sanction the stopping of the bombing of North Vietnam."

Ideas For Improvements Aired At City Hall Session

New ideas to make East Liverpool a more convenient and attractive community for residents and visitors alike were discussed Friday afternoon during a semi-monthly meeting of city department heads with Planning Coordinator Don Eckert.

The suggestions ranged from new traffic control signs to a report a citywide housing inspection will begin July 8 and continue on a regular basis for several years until the entire community has been covered. In addition, progress reports were given on projects previously undertaken.

THE MEETING at Eckert's City Hall office brought together Health Commissioner Jack Bonner, Sanitarian Ben Weber, Incinerator Supt. John Melvin, Police Chief A. J. Radeschi, Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne and Chester M. Brown, housing and zoning inspector.

Eckert read off a list of signs on business places in the downtown area which need maintenance or repair. He also noted a large number of signs in place over premises that have been vacated. The condition of the signs will be called to the attention of the property owners or store proprietors through the zoning and building inspection department, he said.

The officials also discussed the need for stiffer penalties on parking tickets issued for vehicles found in restricted areas where they constitute a genuine hazard to public safety, such as the fire lanes at City Hospital, at school and theater entrances and in front of fire hydrants.

Eckert said a penalty as high as $15 has been recommended for violations, as the $1 charge now does not deter future violations. The police chief pointed out officers need authority to towaway vehicles "when a real emergency exists."

Melvin reported the incinerator department is finishing the job of repainting the metal trash containers used in the business district. Paint was furnished by merchants. The cans will be repainted in blue and white tops.

THE OFFICIALS also discussed interference with traffic flow caused by large trucks parking in business district alleys to make deliveries. Radeschi said the city also needs signs warning motorists not to block intersections, a bottleneck that develops when traffic is heavy.

An offensive odor noted in East Liverpool for several weeks has been traced to a river shipping terminal on the River Rd. and the firm is taking steps to eliminate it, Bonner reported. He said an investigation this week pinpointed the odor around a firm which transports oil from barges. A month other corrective steps, the firm has lowered the temperature at which the oil is kept while being moved from barges, he said.

VanDyne advised that he expects to obtain a "tear-down or repair" order against the former American Poolroom building on E. 6th St., adjacent to the American Theater. He said the front wall "bulges out eight inches and it could fall into the street." He said he will advise Solicitor J. Michael Kapp of his action.

Eckert and Brown said housing inspections will begin on a regular basis July 8, probably in the Pleasant Heights area. Homes and other places will be checked by a three-man team to determine that they comply with the city's housing and building code.

Detailed information on plans for the inspection will be issued a few days before the program is launched, Brown said.

The department heads' next meeting with Eckert will be Friday afternoon, June 28.

How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove perfume stains from fabrics?

A. — These are usually very difficult to deal with, but you can try this: Wet the spot with water, then work on it with glycerin and cheesecloth, then rinse out with water. If traces still remain, work on it some more with a 20 per cent solution of vinegar, and flush it out with water.

Q. — How can I clean that gummy residue out of ashtrays?

A. — With denatured alcohol.

Respect For Justice Urged By Speaker At Kiwanis Club

Justice, law and tyranny were discussed by Atty. Nils Johnson of Canfield at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Former appellate judge and candidate for the 7th District Court of Appeals, Johnson spoke of the present structure of American law and the disorders which have taken place on the nation's streets and campuses in recent years.

"We hear a great deal of the right to dissent, and surely this right is as important as the right to agree. We speak of the right to freedom of speech, but we should not forget there is a corresponding duty not to abuse that right."

He said campuses are frequently disrupted by students who assemble to redress their grievances. "But what grievance is so important as to totally disrupt the educational process? How can students, in attendance by their own free choice, financed by their parents and the community, ignore the rules which they agreed to follow on admission?" He said law on the campus must be upheld as firmly as any other law of the land.

He condemned "mob rule" and violence, and said the problems of the unfortunate and downtrodden were not created in a week, and they cannot be solved in a day.

He said problems will not be solved by blaming others for their existence, or make certain segments of society scapegoats. "They will be solved by do-ers, not by those who talk a good game but who play a good game."

"We will never create a good society until individual excellence and achievement are not only respected but encouraged."

Church At Shippingport Sets Observance Of Anniversary

The Bethlehem United Presbyterian Church at Shippingport will observe its 136th anniversary with a homecoming service June 23 at 3 p. m.

The Crucible Steel Male Chorus, directed by Fred Martell, will present a concert of sacred music.

The Rev. Karl Bowman, pastor, will give the homecoming address.

The church was started in 1832 when a Sunday School was opened. Eleven attended the first service held in the living room of a farm home.

The congregation grew and the barn of Abraham Vaughn, directly across the road from the present structure, was pressed into use.

After meeting two years in the barn, John Potter asked the Ohio Presbytery for assistance in forming a church. On Sunday, June 17, 1832, three representatives met in the grove of Christy's farm and laid the first plans.

The following day, 30 persons organized the church. Potter, William Rambo and Johnathan Cross were the first elders.

Land was donated and Rambo, aided by men of the community, constructed a church.

The Pittsburgh Presbytery raised money for pews.

Numerous pastors have served the church, which has sponsored 15 missionaries.

The elders are Dennis Goodlin, Mrs. Martha Goodlin, Howard Hughes and Mrs. Velma Rambo. The trustees are Goodlin, Clair Gamble, Mrs. Beverly Stewart, Mrs. Rambo, George Bargerstock and William Johnson.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

Too Busy To Be Saved?

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Mt. 16:26.

This question of the Lord is of vital importance to all of us. Many today are taking very lightly the salvation of their soul. Our soul is our most valuable possession. We do not own anything that has as great a value as our soul. Until we realize this fact we will not take proper care of it and we will not do anything toward saving our soul.

It is a shame that many of us are so near-sighted that we can only see the world and things around us in this life and we fail to place proper emphasis on spiritual matters and on the life to come. Certainly, we believe that it is right for us to enjoy and appreciate the things around us in this life. However, when we cannot see the quickly passing things of this life and look beyond them to the everlasting things of the life to come, we are in danger of exchanging our souls for something that will soon be over.

This is the reason that we are urged so often in the Bible to look beyond this life to things that are eternal. Jesus warned that we should lay up for ourselves treasures in Heaven and not treasures here upon the earth. Decay soon comes to earthly treasures but treasures in Heaven never decay. Mt. 6:19-21. Paul urged that Christians set their affections on things above and not on things of the earth. Col. 3:1-2. Peter reminded us that we are just strangers and pilgrims here below. We are just passing through on our way to a better land. 1 Pet. 2:11.

When we have properly understood that time here is quickly passing, we will then begin appreciating how important it is to not exchange our souls for anything.

Are you giving proper attention to your soul? Do you worship the Lord? Do you worship regularly? Have you repented and been baptized so that your soul might be clean from the sins of the past? Acts 22:16; Acts 2:38. Are you living the Christian life?

If you see that your life would fall short of the things that the Lord has commanded, why do you not take care of these things? I realize that you are busy. Most people, however, find time to do just about what they want to do. If we want to save our soul, we will find the time. If we are too busy to save it, we are too busy to go to Heaven but not too busy to be lost. Think seriously and then be present tomorrow for worship to the Lord. See you then?

Methodists Wait Meeting

LAKESIDE, Ohio — More than 1,200 United Methodist ministers and laymen will meet at Lakeside Monday to begin five days of deliberations on key social issues, policies and programs confronting the denomination's North - East Ohio Conference.

Meeting for the first time since the world union of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church April 23 in Dallas, Tex., the delegates will be voting on plans which would bring about mergers between the two former Methodist and four former EUB conferences in Ohio.

The proposed target date of June 1970, is being recommended for the union which would eliminate the present geographical overlapping of United Methodist annual conferences within the state.

Another matter for special consideration will be a $20 million response by the denomination to the racial and poverty crisis in the nation.

Presiding at all sessions of conference will be Bishop Francis E. Kearns of Canton, administrative and spiritual leader of the Ohio East Area.

Delegates will be representing 774 churches from the eight districts: Akron with 64 churches, Cambridge 166, Canton 88, Cleveland 58, Mansfield 123, Norwalk 80, Steubenville 120 and Youngstown 75.

Ohio Church Resists Recent Merger Of EUB, Methodists

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Mills Memorial Evangelical United Brethren Church trustees here are resisting the recent merger of the EUB Church and the Methodist Church.

The church's minister, the Rev. Roger L. Bishop, was suspended by the EUB Southeast Ohio Conference March 8. He received "old constitution" United Brethren credentials shortly after, he said Thursday.

Early this week the conference sought a court order from Fairfield County Common Pleas Court to prevent the trustees from disposing of local church property. A hearing was held before Judge Fred B. Cramer, who sat in here on assignment from Hamilton County.

The conference claims that the trust clause in the EUB Discipline Code states that local church property belongs to members only for as long as they remain affiliated with the conference.

Court officials say it may not be announced for two or three months.

The Rev. Bishop said his church was discouraged by conference authorities from voting on the proposed merger with the Methodists, but did vote. Only about 20 members of an active congregation of more than 600 approved the step, he said.

The rest elected to sever their connection with the new United Methodists Conference and join the "old constitution" United Brethren.

The Rev. Mr. Bishop said he feared that the Methodist-affiliated Consultation Church Union and National Council of Churches would develop into a massive state church.

"And," he said, "I object to the un-American activities of the National Council of Churches, and tolerance of civil disobedience shown by some elements."

"We are not anti-Methodist," he said. "We just want to withdraw peacefully, but the conference doesn't want to let us."

The Rev. Mr. Bishop said if Cramer finds in favor of Mills Memorial trustees the church will continue to operate, as an "old constitution" United Brethren church.

If the conference wins its case, the members of the former congregation who accept the merger will take over the $600,000 property.

The Rev. Mr. Bishop and others rejecting the merger will find temporary accommodations in one of several schools which, the minister says, are available.

"We will then build a new church," said the Rev. Mr. Bishop.

The Rev. Ernest Bradford of Carroll, appointed interim minister at Mills Memorial Church, estimates about 100 members of the church are backing the conference's line.

Ceramic Salute

Festival Pays Tribute To Pottery Industry Of East Liverpool District

Next week's Tri-State Pottery Festival will draw attention to the East Liverpool district's longtime ceramic industry which had its beginnings in the 1839 arrival of James Bennett who erected a kiln and began production the following year.

Today's production techniques are in great contrast to the earlier days when native clays were used for making Rockingham ware in beehive kilns by bearded English craftsmen puffing on their pipes.

The real development of the city as a major pottery center began after the Civil War, when the Knowles, Laughlins, Harkers, Vodreys and others were the "bosses."

THOSE WERE the days when water was hauled throughout the city at 15 cents a barrel, when men, women and boys walked home from the factories covered with the white clay dust, when natural gas was allowed to burn throughout the city for illumination, "lighting up the darkness and giving a weird and ghost-like appearance to the surroundings," as one visitor wrote, when steamboats were loaded with casks of ware for shipment up and down the Ohio River.

By 1877, there were 21 pottery firms in the city — seven whiteware and 14 yellow and Rockingham factories — and the skill of the local craftsmen was beginning to draw international attention.

The New York Journal of Commerce carried an article in 1879 which read:

"We have before us a specimen of work which, coming suddenly and unexpectedly out of the western country, is a marvel as well as a delight. This is a cup and saucer made by Homer Laughlin, East Liverpool, Ohio.

"The body is that peculiar paste which seems to be the product of certain American clays; technically a porcelain, translucent under strong light but opaque in ordinary light, and classed by American potters as stone wares . . . the marvel is that an Ohio pottery should have produced the first complete success of American factory work, in which the whole work and especially the firing of body, tint, colors and gilding, is equally uniform and perfect."

OTHER CITY firms earned similar renown through the years, and a wide variety of delicate and excellent ware was sent from East Liverpool district — bone china, Lotusware and others.

By the turn of the century, Laughlin's had moved to the West Virginia shore at Newell, and other firms sprang up in the new community of Chester as the river was bridged at the two sites.

Competition from abroad and the Depression brought serious cutbacks throughout the industry, and many companies went out of business.

Today, the area potteries continue in the tradition of the ancient artisan bent over his wheel, although fitting their techniques to the demands of a complex mass market.

The Harker China Co. of Chester is an example of this fine blend of the early days of the ware industry with modern processes, carrying on the heritage of the days of Bennett. Harker was the second pottery built in East Liverpool, started by Benjamin Harker on the River Rd. in 1841, and now the oldest continuous operating pottery in the nation.

Next week's festival is a salute to the men and women who helped develop this industry here, who continue to serve it in many ways, and upon whose talents and energies the future of ceramics and this community depend.

The former "Buckeye Works" of the K. T. & K. Pottery along Bradshaw was spanned by an overhead bridge on which ware was trucked. The plant, razed in the mid-1930's, stood where Loblaw's Market is located.

Ted owned a small variety store. Over the past several years his business had increased to where he needed two full-time employees to assist in his work.

One day it became evident that even more help was needed. Someone had to handle the stock room. It wasn't a full-time position, but the help was needed to relieve pressure on the other clerks. Ted hired Jerry, a high school student, to work in the stockroom after school until 6 p.m. every day and all morning on Saturdays.

"HOW'S YOUR workmen's compensation coverage, Ted?" asked Ted's attorney. "I don't see in the file that you've applied for coverage."

"I've only got two regular employees," Ted replied. "I don't need to put myself under the plan."

"Sorry, but you've got three employees now and that's when you must obtain coverage," the attorney replied. "It doesn't make any difference whether Jerry is here on a part-time basis. Under the law, part-time is 'regular' work just like your other two employees are doing."

Many small businesses of ten court disaster in the form of a financial penalty and civil law suit because they do not comply with this requirement of the Ohio Workmen's Compensation Act. Once an employer has three employees — whether any or all are full or part time, or any or all are minors — he must place his business under this special insurance plan.

ONCE covered, the employer pays a premium to the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation. In return, he receives insurance protection for both himself and his employees in the event of an accident.

The insurance gives the employee benefits if he is disabled, either temporarily or permanently, in an accident while in the normal course of his duties. It gives the employer the advantage protection from an accident arising in his place of business.

To honor the 500th anniversary of the Supreme Court of Berlin, the Federal Republic of Germany has issued a 30 pfennig stamp. The new stamp depicts the building which served as the seat of the Supreme Court from 1753 to 1913, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Designed by the famous architect Philipp von Gerlach, the building was damaged during World War II. It has now been restored and soon will be used as a museum.

The design of the new stamp is based on old architectural drawings and includes the dates "1468 - 1968" as well as the words "Supreme Court" in German. The colors are black and white.

On Nov. 6 a stamp will be issued for the 50th anniversary of the death of John McCrae, physician, soldier and author. McCrae is best known for his poem "In Flanders Fields."

Tom Harley hefts his large southern "trout."

FISHING HAS SHIFTED INTO high gear and should continue at a fast pace. Not everyone is catching them, but often it is just a case of being in the right place at the right time.

Fish follow definite feeding patterns. These will change as the weather grows hotter and so it pays to keep close tabs on the time you do find them hitting.

They also will feed on one type of lure or bait now and change in a couple of weeks.

Pennsylvania's bass season opened today. The state record largemouth was a 29-inch, 8-pound, 8-ounce fish caught in 1936 in Stillwater Lake, Monroe County. The record smallmouth was caught in 1937 in Conodoguinet Creek, Cumberland County. The fish was 24½ inches long and weighed 6-pounds, 2 ounces.

The creel limit in the Keystone state is six daily. The minimum size is 9 inches.

A few soft craws are showing up in the creeks and the bass are quick to gobble them up. Hellgrammites and salamanders are among the better baits at present. Crappies are hitting minnows and jigs.

Carp also are biting, if you are interested.

A WHOPPER. Thomas E. Harley of the Y. & O. Rd. took time out to do a little fishing while visiting his son, Ronald Harley of Statesboro, Ga., and caught one of those large-type southern bass.

Tom was fishing a small farm pond when the big one hit an artificial red worm. It weighed between 6 and 8 pounds.

Tom was surprised to hear everyone congratulate him on catching a nice "trout" — the name used for bass in some parts of the South.

OPPOSES GUN LAWS. I received a letter from James H. Huston of Negley RD 1, voicing an opinion against gun legislation.

He is a muzzle loader fan and asks "Why don't we do something to the criminal that shoots individuals instead of punishing all gun fans."

"Cars kill people too. Why don't they take away all the cars?" He also included a card with the slogan "Guns Don't Kill People — People Kill People."

I agree, but it appears that we are faced with the prospect of having to put up with some rather unsensible restrictions.

If you feel as Mr. Huston, the best bet would be to write your senators and congressmen. I am very glad to hear from all of you, but the letters count most when sent to the proper officials.

MONKEY JUSTICE: Anthropologists studying monkey tribes believe their "societies" produce more "successful adults" than does human culture. "The males grow up to be tribal leaders and the females become mothers and rearers of children." The monkeys are far less permissive with their children than are humans. They are punished without fail when they deviate from adult behavior preference. Dr. Margaret Harlow of the University of Wisconsin says, "The monkeys learn much more uniformly to socialize aggression, that is, to put aggression in acceptable forms. Emotions develop in a pattern created by evolution to best insure survival of the species." In order, emotions develop as follows: (1) affection, (2) fear, (3) aggression. We wonder if some of the student protest people aren't retarded who missed 1 and 2! . . . CANADIAN TEENS GO POW! Canadian teens have thrown a real monkey wrench into their politics. Alberta Liberal Party sets voting age for primaries at 16 years. Before emergence of Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, few took advantage of the privilege. Upsets in the Liberal Party primary in Calgary area have been directly attributed to teens. Typical tactic: hundreds of teens are rehearsed, almost choreographed, by professionals and semiprofessionals, such as theatrical directors and headmasters. The young zealots take over meetings with disruptive chants and wild demonstrations. They whip up a frenzy of enthusiasm that carries over for weeks and leads to "recruitment" of all of their friends. The result has been a disruption of the plans for favorite sons of the established party. The eager beavers won't be able to vote on June 25 (neither will 25 million American teens in November).

COON HUNT. Earl Davis of Rockford, Ill., traveled to East Liverpool last weekend and captured first place in a licensed raccoon hunt sponsored by the Tri-State Coon Hunters Association.

His hound scored the most points in the hunt registered with the American Coon Hunters Association. Earl was presented a trophy.

Other winners, in order, were Derwin Underwood of East Liverpool, Jim Parks of Rockford, Cliff Fields of Rockford, Harold Beaver of Wellsville, George R. Hartley Jr. of Cortland, Herbert Hyde of Steubenville, Walter Chevron of Salineville, Harold Farmer of Suffield and Bob Campbell of Brilliant.

Members of the auxiliary served lunch for the hunters when they returned in the early morning hours.

FISH DERBY NOTE. Ten-year-old Ricky Wallace of Salineville recently inquired in a letter about the prizes at the trout derby held at Beaver Creek State Park.

Perhaps there are others who have some questions on the prizes or who won them. If so, contact M. H. Miles of 207 Jennings Ave., Salem, who was in charge of this program. His telephone is 332-5473.

I hope this helps you Rick.

TWO YOUNG COHO SALMON, released by Ohio in April, were caught in Lake Erie near Ontario Monday.

It is estimated they traveled about two miles each day to reach the section where they were caught.

The cohos were approximately 100 miles from the mouth of the Chagrin River where 30,000 were released by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Biologists identified the fish as those from Ohio on the basis of a clipped pectoral fin, a marking system assigned to Ohio only.

Stomach analysis revealed the coho were feeding heavily on insect larva and minnows. Each measured 76-inches, an increase of 2½-inches since their release.

Adult coho are expected to return to Ohio waters in the fall of 1969 for spawning in the Chagrin River.

WHITE BASS. Fishing in the islands area of Lake Erie off Sandusky was fair last weekend.

Lester Stewart of Ohio Ave., Jeffrey Stewart of Harvey Ave., Kenneth Spore of the Y. & O. Rd. and Junior Yeater of Chester brought back about 30 nice white bass of 1½ to 2 pounds each.

They also caught some nice catfish, several perch, small-mouth bass, and of course, the Lake Erie hog — sheephead. Lester Stewart caught one sheephead on a spinner that weighed almost 10 pounds. It put up quite a battle, towing their boat around in one of the bays.

The white bass is just getting started, and this weekend and next should be very good, if the weather cooperates.

LARGE EEL. Mrs. Donna Farnsworth, wife of Ronald Farnsworth of 407 Prospect St., was really surprised last week when she hooked into an eel while fishing in Yellow Creek.

After a 15 minute fight, she got the eel to shore. It was dark and at first she and her husband thought they had a large catfish.

The 35-inch eel weighed five pounds. It bit on a night-crawler. Eels seem to feed primarily at night and really put up a battle.

Only a few are caught in this area each year.

KEEP OUT. Several youths have been swimming in Highlandtown Lake even though the area is posted.

Ralph Drake, Columbiana County game protector, says citations will be issued to anyone caught swimming in the lake.

He pointed out there is no life guard or anyone on duty to guard against drowning accidents. There is no safety equipment in the vicinity which can be brought into play quickly enough to save a life.

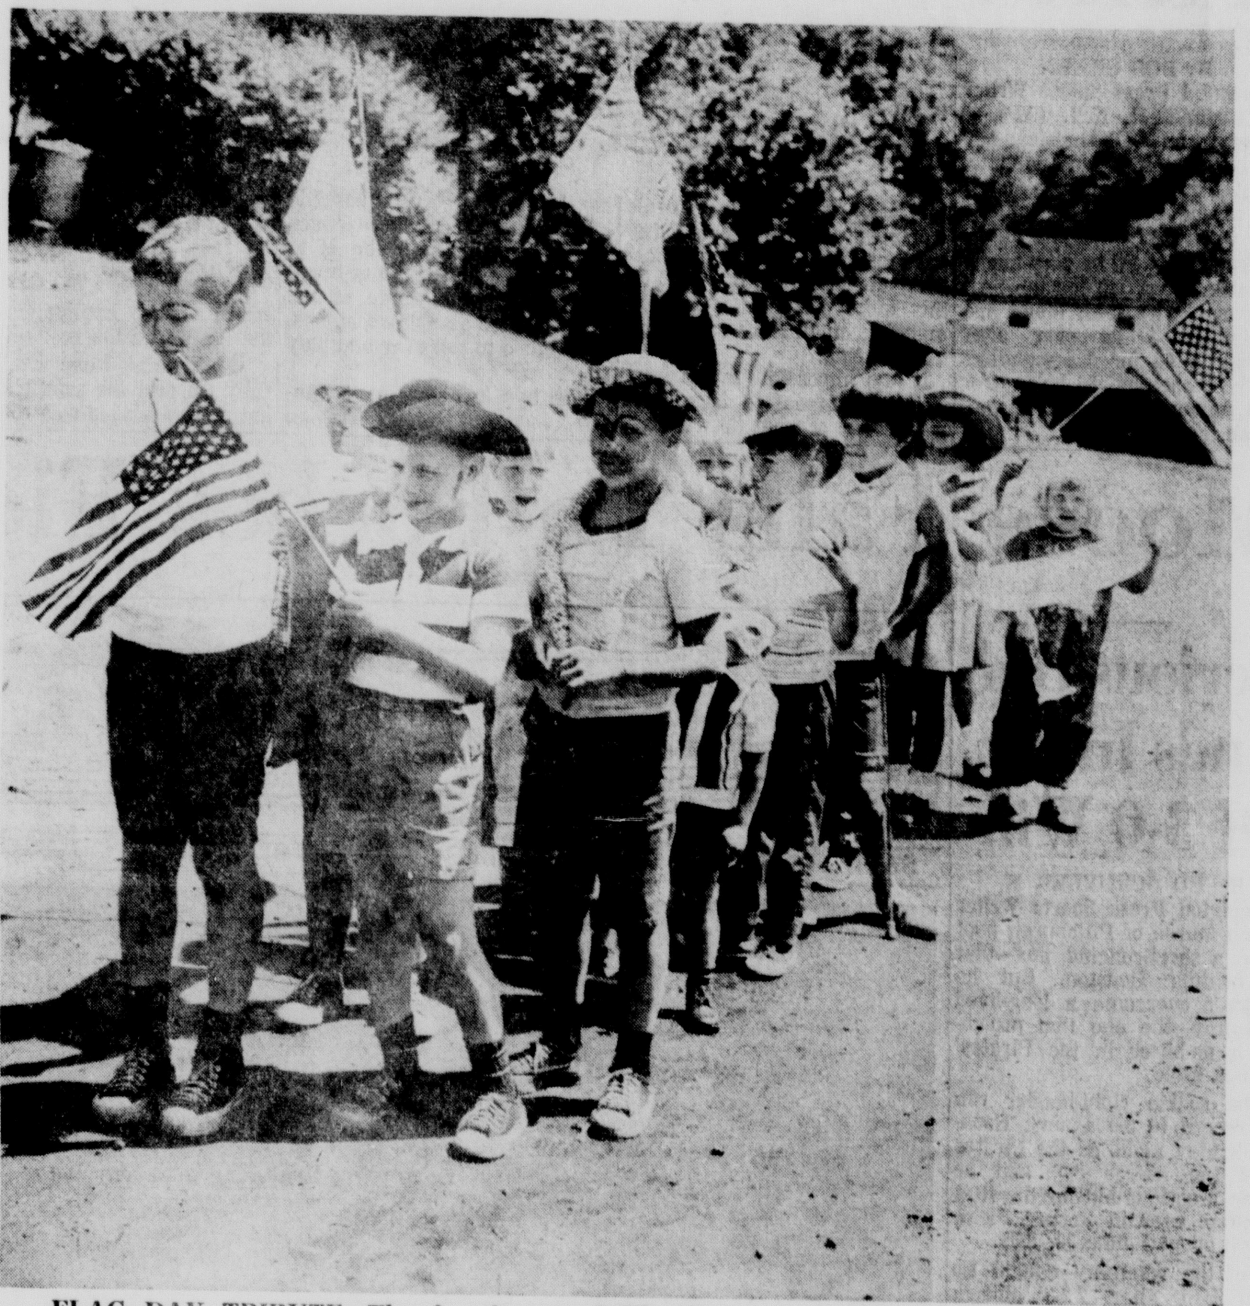

Parents are urged to warn their youngsters against the dangers involved.

The "no swimming" rule will be strictly enforced.

Services, has interesting views on the "alcohol is worse than" approach to marijuana. Says: "If we have five million alcoholics, we don't need another five million marijuana addicts. If someone will guarantee that all the juice heads will turn potheads, that might be a negotiable situation." Dr. Moy also discusses LSD problems with considerable objectivity. The "depersonalization" that accompanies "bad trips" causes loss of distinction between self and nonself. A following stage is "delusion." It is at this point that the individual is close to a choice between mysticism and madness.

JOBS ABROAD: Over 1,000 17-year-old-and-over students had jobs in Belgium last year. In 1968-69, the total will reach over 4,000 guaranteed jobs in a half-dozen different countries. Factory work, construction, farming, child care, hospital work and restaurants are among the job openings being advertised by International Society for Training and Culture (I.S.T.C.), 866 United Nations Plaza, New York, New York 10017. . . . TANDEM-CORNCOB: Canadian teens are big with two-stem corncob pipe action. It's called "two can smoke as cheaply as one." Originated as a promotion gimmick, but teens grabbed the idea and now a Quebec factory is working around the clock to fill the orders for "togetherness pipes." Company plans a series of "colors" to add class. Cobbeley-gook: Corncob pipes have a North American origin. Specially grown cobs are used. Not more than two pipes can be made from each cob. Usually cured for two years or more. Next — clay pipes for three?

TRIVIA TO PONDER: Among car buffs who really know what's shaking, guess what car is top on the list of used "in" cars? The '57 Chevy Bel-Air hardtop — come to think of it, they are all over the place.

FLAG DAY TRIBUTE. The fourth annual Flag Day parade of youngsters in the Oak and Illinois St. area was held Friday afternoon, with some 15 boys and girls marching around the block which includes Chester and Bank Sts. Some wore costumes representing George Washington and Uncle Sam, others had painted faces, all bore flags, noisemakers or balloons. The event was started four years ago by Mrs. William Taylor of 736 Oak St.

KEEP OUT. Several youths have been swimming in Highlandtown Lake even though the area is posted.

Ralph Drake, Columbiana County game protector, says citations will be issued to anyone caught swimming in the lake.

He pointed out there is no life guard or anyone on duty to guard against drowning accidents. There is no safety equipment in the vicinity which can be brought into play quickly enough to save a life.

Parents are urged to warn their youngsters against the dangers involved.

The "no swimming" rule will be strictly enforced.

FLAG DAY TRIBUTE. The fourth annual Flag Day parade of youngsters in the Oak and Illinois St. area was held Friday afternoon, with some 15 boys and girls marching around the block which includes Chester and Bank Sts. Some wore costumes representing George Washington and Uncle Sam, others had painted faces, all bore flags, noisemakers or balloons. The event was started four years ago by Mrs. William Taylor of 736 Oak St.

Yancey's 135 Leads U.S. Open By 2

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — There's an all-American-boy air, a certain mild naivete, about big, blond Bert Yancey, the second-round leader in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

"Right now, I'd be very happy to settle for a 140 for the next two days," he said, bland and straight-faced as ever after posting a 68 for 135—equaling the best opening, 36 holes ever shot in an Open—and a two-stroke lead Friday.

Ties Best Score For Halfway Point

It seemed like a reasonable statement. All such a performance would do is tie Jack Nicklaus' all-time record of 275 in this most prestigious and demanding of all the world's golf tournaments.

It was impossible to tell from Yancey's impassive face if he was aware of what he was saying, but it's very, very possible indeed that such a performance may be necessary if he is to stand off the challenge of brash Lee Trevino and some of the game's more glamorous names, who refuse to roll over and play dead.

"He has to catch me," Yancey shrugged when Trevino came in with his two-under-par 68 and remained two strokes off the pace after 36 holes over the 6,962-yard, par 70 Oak Hill course. The implication was that so would the rest of them.

"I still think I can win," said Billy Casper, the season's leading money-winner who rebounded with a second-round 68 for 143. And Billy, fully recovered from a back ailment that plagued him on opening day, grinned broadly.

"He can be caught," said defending champion Nicklaus, who had a par 70 for 142. "He can't be caught if he keeps up this pace, but that doesn't mean he will keep up that pace."

Arnold Palmer wasn't saying much of anything. He stumbled in with a 74—he didn't have a single birdie—for 147 and was a dejected and crestfallen man.

Charles Coody, who shared second place after the first day's play, slipped to a 71 for 140 and a tie for third with Don Bies, 70, Australian Bruce Devlin, 69, and Jerry Pittman, 67.

Nicklaus was bunched in a herd of 11 at 142.

Moose Falls To Forbes Field No-Hit Jinx

Serious Bid Ends In 8th Of 3-0 Win

By ED SCHUYLER R.

Bob Moose of Pittsburgh kept alive a short-running jinx—that of beating Houston. But he couldn't overcome a long-lived whammy—the one that prohibits a no-hitter in the Pirates' Forbes Field.

The rookie right-hander ran his record to 3-0 against Houston Friday night as the Pirates beat the Astros 3-0, and he made a serious bid for the first no-hitter ever in Forbes Field, which opened June 30, 1969.

But the whammy caught up with him after 7-2-3 innings when Julio Gotay blooped a single to right. Ron Davis singled in the ninth and Moose finished with a two-hitter.

The longest previous hitless string at Forbes Field was 7-1-3 innings by Al Jackson of the New York Mets on July 21, 1965.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night, the Mets beat San Francisco 7-3, Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 7-0, Los Angeles beat Philadelphia 6-0 and then lost to the Phillies 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Atlanta 2-1.

Moose walked Rusty Staub with two out in the first and then retired 21 in a row before Gotay got his single. The victory ran his record to 2-4, with both victories coming in starting roles against Houston. His other victory over the Astros came in a brief fling with the Pirates last year.

The Pirates scored in the second inning when Fred Patek beat out a bunt for his first major-league hit, stole second and went to third on catcher John Bateman's throwing error and came home on Jerry May's single. They scored again in the sixth on Donn Clendenon's homer and got their final run in the eighth.

Rookie Jerry Koosman got roughed up in the ninth when he yielded two runs but had enough to win his 10th game against two losses in the Mets' victory over San Francisco.

New York, winning its fourth straight, scored once in the first and then wrapped it up with four runs in the third on Don Bosch's solo homer and Jerry Ruchek's three-run shot. It was Bosch's first homer in the majors.

Cincinnati broke open its scoreless duel with St. Louis by scoring four runs in the seventh with the aid of five straight singles.

Lee May started the rally with one out and then Johnny Bench, Leo Cardenas, Mack Jones and Pete Rose followed with hits. Jones scored the inning's final run when he attempted to steal home and catcher Tim McCarver dropped the ball.

Billy McCool and Ted Abernathy limited the Cardinals to three hits.

Bill Singer raised his record to 6-5 by pitching a seven-hitter for his fourth straight victory in Los Angeles' opening game triumph over Philadelphia that snapped a three-game losing streak. The Dodgers clinched it with a two-run second and a three-run third.

Philadelphia, held hitless for 6-1-3 innings by Mike Kekich, won the nightcap when Tony Gonzalez singled off Jim Brewer with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Los Angeles scored off winner Woody Fryman, 9-5, in the sixth, but the Phillies tied it when Richie Allen tripled, for the first hit, in the seventh and scored on Don Lock's sacrifice fly.

Fifth-inning doubles by Ernie Banks and Randy Hundley broke a 1-1 tie and gave Chicago a 2-1 victory over Atlanta.

The Braves scored in the first on Hank Aaron's double and Deron Johnson's single. Chicago came back to tie on Don Kessinger's single and stolen base, a groundout and Billy Williams' sacrifice fly.

While Post 374 took advantage of several miscues by Follansbee the East Liverpool nine played errorless ball.

Tigers Win, 6-5, On Wert's Blast

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Harrelson turned on three times as much power as Don Wert, but he couldn't have short-circuited Cleveland more completely than Wert did the Chicago White Sox.

Wert, a little slower pulling the switch, waited until the 14th inning before blasting his seventh home run that brought the American League-leading Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the White Sox Friday night.

Harrelson held off until only the fifth inning before beginning a barrage of three consecutive homers that drove in seven runs and surged the Boston Red Sox by the Indians 7-2.

The rest of the league's hitters remained mostly grounded as Minnesota trimmed Baltimore 2-1 on infield hits, infield outs and a wild pitch and errors helped California past Washington 2-0 and the New York Yankees by Oakland 5-4 in 10 innings.

Wert, not noted as a power hitter at 5-foot-9, 165 pounds and only six homers all of last season, kept the juice flowing through the red-hot Tigers by wiping out the White Sox as the first hitter in the 14th.

The victory was the fifth straight and 10th in 11 games as the Tigers expanded their league lead to 6½ games over Baltimore.

They almost burned themselves out in the 13th after taking a 5-4 lead against loser Bob Priddy, 0-3, on Bill Freehan's run-scoring hit. Luis Aparicio beat out a hit for the Sox in the 13th, stole second, took third on a sacrifice and scored on an infield out, and Chicago had the winning run on second base before Detroit retired the side.

The Tigers got into extra innings in the first place when Earl Wilson, making his first start since injuring a heel May 24, capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning with a three-run homer.

The White Sox had taken a 4-0 lead with a brief and surprising show of power as Tom McCraw hit a three-run homer.

Harrelson, a 6-2, 190-pounder who hit 12 homers in part-time duty last season, has really turned on the voltage this year by blasting 13 homers with 37 runs batted in.

He struck out and grounded out his first two times at bat against Cleveland as Boston fell behind 1-0, but then he ignited, blasting two-and three-run homers in the fifth and sixth innings off Luis Tiant, 9-5. He belted another with a man on in the eighth off Eddie Fisher in his last time at bat, making it easy for Dick Ellsworth, 5-4, who coasted with a five-hitter.

Minnesota ended a six-game losing streak, although the Orioles' Tom Phoebus, 5-6, allowed only two infield hits in his six innings. Cesar Tovar beat out one of them in the first inning, stole second, took third on a grounder and scored on a wild pitch. Tony Oliva walked in the fourth, reached third as Ted Uhlaender's line drive hit Phoebus and scored on a force play.

Jim Roland, making his first start in nearly four years, gave one hit in 5-1-3 innings and got the victory with relief from Al Worthington and Ron Perranoski.

George Brunet, 6-6, fashioned a six-hitter for California and the Angels converted eighth-inning errors by Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen into runs off loser Joe Coleman, 4-6.

The Yankees helped Oakland to a 3-0 lead on errors by Jake Gibbs and Mickey Mantle, but ruined the A's try for a fourth straight shutout with an unearned run of their own. Joe Pepitone tied the score with a two-run homer.

But the Yankees needed more help in the eighth when Mantle walked, stole second and right fielder Reggie Jackson dropped Pepitone's pop fly to let in Mantle with the tying run. Then Mantle won the game in the 10th with a run-scoring single.

Hanover Nine, Hookstown Win League Contests

Hookstown and Hanover picked up victories Friday in the South Side Junior Baseball League.

Hookstown on a four - hitter by Brian Narry defeated Lawrenceville 23-3 at Hookstown. Keith Waxler and Rich Wright belted grand slam home runs for the winners. Kevin Mumaw had two hits for the losers.

Clark Cox, who struck out 14 batters, pitched and batted Hanover on an 11-2 victory over Shippingport. Cox homered, doubled and collected two singles.

Gary Beban Signs With Washington

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Gary Beban, the 1967 Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA, couldn't come to terms with the Los Angeles Rams but he certainly talks the language of the Washington Redskins and Kathy Hanson.

Beban has a couple of new contracts today—one with the Redskins, the other with the former Miss Hanson, who he married in Alhambra, Calif., Friday.

About seven hours before the couple were married, the Redskins announced they had acquired the rights to negotiate with Beban from the Rams in a trade for their 1969 No. 1 draft choice.

Club President Edward Bennett Williams said Beban had agreed to terms—something he couldn't do with Los Angeles. He'll sign Monday.

The Redskins, who also announced the signing of St. Louis defensive back Pat Fischer, were enthused with the acquisition of Beban, even though it gives them five quarterbacks—veterans Sonny Jurgensen and Jim Ninowski and rookies Beban, Harry Theofiles and Danny Talbott.

Fischer, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound seven-year veteran, is expected to strengthen the Redskins in an area where they've had problems.

The Redskins owe St. Louis a player for Fischer, who played out his option. Commissioner Pete Rozelle will decide who they must give since the two teams cannot agree on a player.

Fischer said he was unhappy at St. Louis because the owners and coaches put much of the blame for the Cardinals' 6-8 season on the defensive backfield.

Tigers Win, 6-5, On Wert's Blast

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ken Harrelson turned on three times as much power as Don Wert, but he couldn't have short-circuited Cleveland more completely than Wert did the Chicago White Sox.

Wert, a little slower pulling the switch, waited until the 14th inning before blasting his seventh home run that brought the American League-leading Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the White Sox Friday night.

Harrelson held off until only the fifth inning before beginning a barrage of three consecutive homers that drove in seven runs and surged the Boston Red Sox by the Indians 7-2.

The rest of the league's hitters remained mostly grounded as Minnesota trimmed Baltimore 2-1 on infield hits, infield outs and a wild pitch and errors helped California past Washington 2-0 and the New York Yankees by Oakland 5-4 in 10 innings.

Wert, not noted as a power hitter at 5-foot-9, 165 pounds and only six homers all of last season, kept the juice flowing through the red-hot Tigers by wiping out the White Sox as the first hitter in the 14th.

The victory was the fifth straight and 10th in 11 games as the Tigers expanded their league lead to 6½ games over Baltimore.

They almost burned themselves out in the 13th after taking a 5-4 lead against loser Bob Priddy, 0-3, on Bill Freehan's run-scoring hit. Luis Aparicio beat out a hit for the Sox in the 13th, stole second, took third on a sacrifice and scored on an infield out, and Chicago had the winning run on second base before Detroit retired the side.

The Tigers got into extra innings in the first place when Earl Wilson, making his first start since injuring a heel May 24, capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning with a three-run homer.

The White Sox had taken a 4-0 lead with a brief and surprising show of power as Tom McCraw hit a three-run homer.

Harrelson, a 6-2, 190-pounder who hit 12 homers in part-time duty last season, has really turned on the voltage this year by blasting 13 homers with 37 runs batted in.

He struck out and grounded out his first two times at bat against Cleveland as Boston fell behind 1-0, but then he ignited, blasting two-and three-run homers in the fifth and sixth innings off Luis Tiant, 9-5. He belted another with a man on in the eighth off Eddie Fisher in his last time at bat, making it easy for Dick Ellsworth, 5-4, who coasted with a five-hitter.

Minnesota ended a six-game losing streak, although the Orioles' Tom Phoebus, 5-6, allowed only two infield hits in his six innings. Cesar Tovar beat out one of them in the first inning, stole second, took third on a grounder and scored on a wild pitch. Tony Oliva walked in the fourth, reached third as Ted Uhlaender's line drive hit Phoebus and scored on a force play.

Jim Roland, making his first start in nearly four years, gave one hit in 5-1-3 innings and got the victory with relief from Al Worthington and Ron Perranoski.

George Brunet, 6-6, fashioned a six-hitter for California and the Angels converted eighth-inning errors by Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen into runs off loser Joe Coleman, 4-6.

The Yankees helped Oakland to a 3-0 lead on errors by Jake Gibbs and Mickey Mantle, but ruined the A's try for a fourth straight shutout with an unearned run of their own. Joe Pepitone tied the score with a two-run homer.

But the Yankees needed more help in the eighth when Mantle walked, stole second and right fielder Reggie Jackson dropped Pepitone's pop fly to let in Mantle with the tying run. Then Mantle won the game in the 10th with a run-scoring single.

Hanover Nine, Hookstown Win League Contests

Hookstown and Hanover picked up victories Friday in the South Side Junior Baseball League.

Hookstown on a four - hitter by Brian Narry defeated Lawrenceville 23-3 at Hookstown. Keith Waxler and Rich Wright belted grand slam home runs for the winners. Kevin Mumaw had two hits for the losers.

Clark Cox, who struck out 14 batters, pitched and batted Hanover to an 11-2 victory over Shippingport. Cox homered, doubled and collected two singles.

Gary Beban Signs With Washington

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Quarterback Gary Beban, the 1967 Heisman Trophy winner from UCLA, couldn't come to terms with the Los Angeles Rams but he certainly talks the language of the Washington Redskins and Kathy Hanson.

ban, Harry Theofpledes and Danny Talbott.

Fischer, a 5-foot-9, 170-pound seven-year veteran, is expected to strengthen the Redskins in an area where they've had problems.

The Redskins owe St. Louis a player for Fischer, who played out his option. Commissioner Pete Rozelle will decide who they must give since the two teams cannot agree on a player.

Fischer said he was unhappy at St. Louis because the owners and coaches put much of the blame for the Cardinals' 6-8 season on the defensive backfield.

Middle, North All-Stars End 1st Week Of Drills

By BOB THATCHER

Marion Star Sports Writer

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Twenty of the top basketball players from the Ohio high school ranks are winding up their first week of drills for the annual North-South Cage Classic, to be played at Marion's Veterans Memorial Coliseum next Saturday.

Five players who participated in the state tournament in March are on hand for the game: Three on the North squad and two on the South.

The North coaches, "Doc" Daugherty of Euclid and Bob Frye of Mansfield St. Peter, are pleased with the morale and hustle of their boys and are quite impressed with all players.

The North has had two boys miss some practice time during the week. Roger Evans, 6-foot-7 center from Cuyahoga Falls, had a sore throat and missed practice Tuesday and Wednesday.

On Wednesday, Doug Alt from Mansfield St. Peter suffered a cut over his right eye requiring seven stitches. He's now back with the team.

Rounding out the North team are All-Ohio Al Vilchek of Euclid, the tallest player here at 6-9; Tom Darden of Sandusky, Bob Howell of Mendon Union, Jess Gregory of Napoleon, John Cressap of Marion Harding, John Kennedy of Springfield Local, Earl Diddle of East Liverpool and Stan White of Kent Roosevelt.

South coaches Dick Schenk of Newark and "Heckie" Thompson of Pike Western feel their team is starting to play together well after one week, with strong battles being waged for starting positions.

The South has a potentially great one-two punch under the boards in Columbus East's 6-7 Randy Smith and 6-8 Payton Townsend of Hamilton Garfield.

Another big name on the Rebel squad is All-Ohio John Fraley, the 6-4 Middletown star. From the Class A ranks, the South has another great backcourt player in Doug Hill, from Ross Southeastern.

Other members of the South team are Dan Furlong of Tipp City, Kent Johnson of Green Hills, Roger Garrison of Buckeye Valley, Harold Howe of Jackson, Charlie Snow of Newark and Mike Painter of Zanesville.

Southern Cal In Battle To Retain Track Title

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—This is the day Southern California hopes to successfully defend its National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championship.

This will have to be the day, in fact, because what the Trojans have been involved in during the first two days of this three-day affair looks suspiciously like a battle and not the expected runaway.

This is not to say that most of the Southern California performers haven't done what was expected—Earl McCulloch defended his 100-meter high hurdles title Friday and Lennox Miller won the 100-meter dash—but a couple of likely prospects have fallen by the wayside.

and some other teams are showing strength. McCulloch caught Villanova's Erv Hall at the final hurdle to win in 13.4 seconds and Miller won the dash in 10.1, both tying meet records.

Other winners of final events Friday—13 finals will be held today—were Bob Narcessian of Rhode Island with a 202-foot, 1-inch hammer throw, Perti Pousi of Brigham Young via Finland with a 26-3/4 long jump, Steve Marcus of UCLA with a 61-7/8 shot put and Jerry Pearce of Texas-El Paso and Australia in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:50.8.

After seven events—the 10,000 meters was run Thursday—Southern Cal is the leader with 20 points. But right behind are UCLA and Washington State with 16 and Villanova with 12.

3-Day Affair Ruled Out For Cage Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio High School Athletic Association has ruled out making the state high school basketball tournament a three-day affair.

The association's board of control, winding up its regular meeting here Friday, took the stand after noting that Ohio State University's St. John Arena, site of the state tournament, is not available for three consecutive days.

The tournament will remain a two-day affair, at least until 1971, when the arena will become available for three straight days.

In other action, the board moved to prevent live telecasts of local high school basketball games. The decision traces back to complaints from the Canton area.

Officials maintained that when games had been telecast live at a school in the Canton vicinity, other local schools reported attendance slumps.

The new rule prohibits the telecast of filmed games until 10:30 p. m. on the date the contest is played.

MARIION, Ohio (AP)—Twenty of the top basketball players from the Ohio high school ranks are winding up their first week of drills for the annual North South Cage Classic, to be played at Marion's Veteran Memorial Coliseum next Saturday.

Five players who participated in the state tournament in March are on hand for the game: Three on the North squad and two on the South.

The North coaches, "Doc" Daugherty of Euclid and Bob Frye of Mansfield St. Peter, are pleased with the morale and hustle of their boys and are quite impressed with all players.

The North has had two boys miss some practice time during the week. Roger Evans, 6-foot-7, center from Cuyahoga Falls, had a sore throat and missed practice Tuesday and Wednesday.

On Wednesday, Doug Alt from Mansfield St. Peter suffered a cut over his right eye requiring seven stitches. He's now back with the team.

Rounding out the North team are All-Ohio Al Vilcek of Euclid, the tallest player here at 6-9; Tom Darden of Sandusky, Bob Howell of Mendon Union, Jess Gregory of Napoleon, John Cressap of Marion Harding, John Kennedy of Springfield Local, Earl Diddle of East Liverpool and Stan White of Kent Roosevelt.

South coaches Dick Schenk of Newark and "Heckie" Thompson of Pike Western feel their team is starting to play together well after one week, with strong battles being waged for starting positions.

The South has a potentially great one-two punch under the boards in Columbus East's 6-7 Randy Smith and 6-8 Payton Townsend of Hamilton Garfield.

Another big name on the Rebel squad is All-Ohio John Fraley, the 6-4 Middletown star. From the Class A ranks, the South has another great backcourt player in Doug Hill, from Ross Southeastern.

Other members of the South team are Dan Furlong of Tipp City, Kent Johnson of Green Hills, Roger Garrison of Buckeye Valley, Harold Howe of Jackson, Charlie Snow of Newark and Mike Painter of Zanesville.

Southern Cal In Battle To Retain Track Title

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—This is the day Southern California hopes to successfully defend its National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championship.

This will have to be the day, in fact, because what the Trojans have been involved in during the first two days of this three-day affair looks suspiciously like a battle and not the expected runaway.

This is not to say that most of the Southern California performers haven't done what was expected—Earl McCulloch defended his 110-meter high hurdles title Friday and Lennox Miller won the 100-meter dash—but a couple of likely prospects have fallen by the wayside.

and some other teams are showing strength.

McCulloch caught Villanova's Erv Hall at the final hurdle to win in 13.4 seconds and Miller won the dash in 10.1, both tying meet records.

Other winners of final events Friday—13 finals will be held today—were Bob Narcessian of Rhode Island with a 202-foot, 1-inch hammer throw, Pertti Pousi of Brigham Young via Finland with a 26-3/4 long jump, Steve Marcus of UCLA with a 61-7/8 shot put and Jerry Pearce of Texas-El Paso and Australia in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:50.8.

After seven events, the 10,000 meters was run Thursday—Southern Cal is the leader with 20 points. But right behind are UCLA and Washington State with 16 and Villanova with 12.

3-Day Affair Ruled Out For Cage Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio High School Athletic Association has ruled out making the state high school basketball tournament a three-day affair.

The association's board of control, winding up its regular meeting here Friday, took the stand after noting that Ohio State University's St. John Arena, site of the state tournament, is not available for three consecutive days.

The tournament will remain a two-day affair, at least until 1971, when the arena will be come available for three straight days.

In other action, the board moved to prevent live telecasts of local high school basketball games. The decision traces back to complaints from the Canton area.

Officials maintained that when games had been telecast live at a school in the Canton vicinity, other local schools reported attendance slumps.

The new rule prohibits the telecast of filmed games until 10:30 p. m. on the date the contest is played.

The board established a set of rules for the Hospitality Committee and home room mothers. These will be distributed at the August meeting.

Mrs. McKinney announced a PTA workshop will be held at South School in Beaver Falls Tuesday for all committee chairmen.

Mrs. Robert Loncar Sr. will host the executive board at a swimming party at her home in August. Mrs. George Mastrovich will be co-hostess.

Mrs. Keith Hammond assisted Mrs. Nuzzo in serving refreshments.

Student To Perform
Miss Linda Kelly will perform during a "Pianoarama" program Sunday at the Syria Mosque in Pittsburgh.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelly of Kelly Rd., Industry, and a student of Mrs. Daniel Feibus of Beaver. An entrant must perform for four years to be qualified to compete for scholarships awarded at the "Pianoarama." This is Miss Kelly's first year as an entrant. She is a sixth-grade student at Snyder School.

Overnight Camp Held
Cadette Troop 92 of Industry held an overnight camp Friday at the home of Mrs. Richard Barrett, leader. Mrs. George Mastrovich, assistant leader, was in charge of arrangements. Final plans were made for a week of troop camping. Each girl is to bring eating utensils and a sleeping bag.

POLITICAL PARTIES

QUESTION: What makes an ocean wave move?

ANSWER: At first we had two parties, Federalists and Anti-Federalists. The Federalists worked for a strong central government. The Anti-Federalists supported states' rights. Such Federalists as George Washington, Alexander Hamilton and James Madison succeeded in establishing a powerful constitution, and the Federalist party was in control until 1801, when Thomas Jefferson emerged as leader of an opposition party. This stressed states' rights and a program of democratic progress. Dominating the government from 1801 to 1861, this was, from 1829, called the Democratic party, which split into two factions, north and south, over the issue of slavery. Meanwhile, the Federalist party came to be known as the National Republican party and then the Whig party. An issue arose as to whether slavery should be extended into the new territories of Kansas and Nebraska. In 1854, some of the Whigs violently opposed the idea of more slavery and succeeded in forming a new party based on this objection. This was the beginning of the Republican party which in 1860 had its candidate, Abraham Lincoln, elected as president.

Judge Denies Probation To Local Youths

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court at Lisbon denied probation requests of two East Liverpool youths Thursday and sentenced them to the Ohio State Reformatory.

Thomas M. Taylor, 20, of Route 30 was sentenced to 1 to 20 years for forgery and Terry L. Wolfe, 18, of 106 W. Drury Ln. to 1 to 15 years for burglaries Dec. 14 at the Petrosol Service Station on Pennsylvania Ave. and the Sunoco Service Station in Calcutta.

The judge denied a motion for a new trial filed by Clair Cunningham, 57, of 114 E. 2nd St., East Liverpool, who was convicted of harboring and concealing a felon. On the court's own motion, Judge Buzzard ordered a pre-sentence investigation and report.

Floyd E. Gilmore, 19, Lisbon RD 2, and Donald Boso, 18, of Ganders Flats, Lisbon, were placed on probation for three years. They pleaded guilty Feb. 5 to a charge of burglary Dec. 25 at the Buckeye Beverage store in Lisbon.

NEW YORK (AP) — Herman B. Ferguson and Arthur Harris, both Negroes, were convicted today of conspiring to murder moderate civil rights leaders Roy Wilkins and Whitney Young Jr.

An all-male jury returned a guilty verdict after deliberating for more than 10 hours.

The trial in Queens Supreme Court ended Friday after eight days of testimony.

Each man faces up to seven years in prison. No date for sentencing was set immediately.
